

Andrea Calabrese

MARKEDNESS AND ECONOMY IN A DERIVATIONAL MODEL OF PHONOLOGY.

"Ai miei figli: Angelica, Arianna, Giovanni e ? "

TABLE OF CONTENT:

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

PREFACE

CHAPTER 1 INTRODUCTION

1. Prolegomena to a realistic theory of phonology
 - 1.1 Basic Assumptions.
 - 1.2 A Realistic Approach to Phonology
 - 1.3 Idiosyncratic Aspects of Language.
 - 1.4 Derivations.
 - 1.5 Economy.
 - 1.6 Conspiracies.
 - 1.7 Rules and Constraints as Procedural Instructions.
 - 1.8 Markedness Theory.
 - 1.9 Historical Changes.
 - 1.10 Exceptions to Markedness Theory
 - 1.11 Summary
2. Representational Issues
 - 2.1 Features
 - 2.2 Syllable Structure
 - 2.3 Underspecification and Feature Visibility
3. Conclusions

CHAPTER 2: THE THEORETICAL MODEL

1. Markedness, Economy and Repairs
 - 1.1 Speedy repairs.
 - 1.2 On the nature of markedness
2. The structure of Grammar
 - 2.1 Negative constraints and rules
 - 2.2 The Markedness Module
 - 2.3 Deactivation of Marking Statements.
 - 2.4 Segmental Marking Statements.
 - 2.5 Segmental Marking Statements and Phonemic Inventories
 - 2.6 Natural Rules
 - 2.7 Heuristics
 - 2.8 Idiosyncratic Instructions

3. Issues in the Theory of Repair Operations
 - 3.1 Repairs in Segmental Phonology and Fission
 - 3.2 Epenthesis as a Repair
 - 3.3 Bulgarian Liquid Metathesis as Fission of Syllabic Sonorants
 - 3.4 Syllable Structure in Bulgarian.
4. Derivations
 - 4.1 Ordering of Processes
 - 4.2 Cyclicity and Syllabification: Yers and Bulgarian Liquid Metathesis
 - 4.2.1 Yers in Bulgarian
 - 4.2.2 An Alternative Analysis of Yers
 - 4.2.3 Cyclicity of Syllabification and Yer -Strengthening
 - 4.2.4. Yers and Stems Ending in a C+sonorant Sequence
5. Summary

CHAPTER 3 CASE STUDIES

1. A French Conspiracy
 - 1.1 Trisegmental Onsets in French: Repairs and Blocking
 - 1.2 Glides and High vowels in French
 - 1.3 A Conspiracy
 - 1.4 French Syncope
 - 1.5 Hiatus in French
 - 1.6 Ambisyllabic Structures with Labio-Velar and Labio-Palatal Vocoids in French
 - 1.7 Summary
2. Syllabification in Tashlhiyt Berber
 - 2.1 Core Syllabification in Tashlhiyt Berber
 - 2.2 Exceptions to Core Syllabification in Tashlhiyt Berber
 - 2.3 Imperfective morphology in Tashlhiyt Berber
 - 2.4 Templatic Morphology in Tashlhiyt Berber

- 2.4.1 The Absence of Hiatus Configurations and the ONSET Constraint
- 2.5 Summary
- 3. Vowel Harmony in Okpe and the Issue of Feature Negation
 - 3.1 Vowel Harmony in Okpe
 - 3.2 Excision
 - 3.3 Summary

CHAPTER 4: PALATALIZATION AND AFFRICATION

- 1. Modifications in Place of Articulation: How do we get Coronal Consonants in Palatalization Processes
 - 1.1 On the Coronality of Front Vowels
 - 1.2 Halle, Vaux and Wolfe (2000)
 - 1.3 Correlation Statements
 - 1.4 Palatals and Coronalization
 - 1.5 Front High Vowels and Palatalization Processes
 - 1.6 Velar Palatalization in Italian.
 - 1.7 The First Palatalization of Romance.
- 2. Affrication
 - 2.1 The traditional Account
 - 2.2 Affrication as Fission
 - 2.3 Fricativization in Palatalization Processes
 - 2.4 Conclusions

CHAPTER 5: MARKEDNESS, NEUTRAL VOWELS AND HARMONY PROCESSES

- 1. A Theory of Feature Visibility
 - 1.1 Harmony processes, Blocking and Feature Visibility
 - 1.2 Feature Markedness
 - 1.3 Labial Attraction.
- 2. Underlying representation in harmony processes
- 3. Case studies
 - 3.1 Uyghur Vowel Harmony
 - 3.2 Wolof Vowel Harmony

- 3.3 Yoruba Vowel Harmony
- 3.4 Ogori Vowel Harmony
- 3.5 Clements (2002)
- 4. For a definition of contrastive feature specification
 - 4.1 Basic Procedure
 - 4.2 Accidental Gaps and Contrastiveness.

CONCLUSIONS

REFERENCES

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I would like to thank Morris Halle, Chuck Cairns, François Dell, Nick Clements, Bert Vaux, Gigi Rizzi, Adriana Belletti, Paola Beninca', Laura Vanelli, Cino Renzi, Keren Rice, Hellen Kaisse, Oksana Tarenkova, Paula Bairds, the students at University of Connecticut and Univerista' di Siena, audiencies at MIT, CUNY, University of Pennsylvania, Padova and Pisa, My father and my mother.

*Strip the raiment of pride from your body:
in learning, put the garment of humility.
Soul receives from soul the knowledge of humility,
not from book or speech.
Though mysteries of spiritual poverty are within the seeker's heart
she doesn't yet possess knowledge of those mysteries.
Let her wait until her heart expand and fills with light.
(Rumi, Mathnawi V, 1061)*